SUDA BAY FALLS AS ITALIANS ENTER BATTLE OF CRETE

CAPTURE OF HARBOR MAY BE A DECIDING FACTOR IN STRUGGLE

Berlin, May 29.—(P)—German troops occupied Candia, Crete, today, official German news agency, announced. The town's airport harbor was taken over by the advancing Germans, the news agency said, adding that several hundred Allied soldiers were captured. Reported occupation of Candia followed announcement of the capture of Suda Bay, the island's best harbor, some 55 miles to the west, a drive to Almyro Bay, between Suda Bay and Candia.

By the Associated Press

With newly-arrived Italian troops striking from the east end of the island, Adolf Hitler's aerial invaders captured Crete's prize harbor of Suda Bay on the west today and occupied Candia, in central Crete, as British struggled desperately in the jaws of a closing vise.

Candia is the island's biggest city, with a population of 33,000, at 55 miles east of Suda Bay. British military headquarters, conceding that the heavily-reinforced Germans had scored major gains, declared that violent hand-to-hand fighting was continuing.

Casualties were heavy on both sides, the British said, with New Zealand and other imperial forces fighting bitterly east of Suda Bay. Among the German casualties, it was reported, was Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight champion, killed while attempting to escape from British troops who had captured him.

Amid the losing struggle in Crete, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden gave the first comprehensive statement on Britain's war situation and declared:

"We must never forget that Germany is the worst master Europe has known. Five times in the last century she has violated the peace. She must never be in a position to play that role again."

Seizure of Suda Bay gave the Germans a bridgehead for landing airborne troops, and military experts said it may prove to be the turning-point of the struggle—the beginning of another British defeat.

Hitler's High Command reported that Nazi mountain troops, landing on beyond Suda Bay, reached Almyro Bay to the east in the "defeated" British.

The German communiqué said Nazi forces had taken a large number of prisoners.

British dispatches reported also that hundreds of little oil tankers, loaded with German troops, had been safely escorted Crete under the guns of Italian warships.

Italian troops belatedly entered the conflict yesterday, it was reported.

London military quarters acknowledged frankly a "serious deterioration" in the situation in the last 24 hours.

The British admitted that capture of Suda Bay, the best harbor of the 160-mile-long island, probably would be the deciding factor in the struggle.

It was just a year ago today, incidentally, that the Allies, in retaliation for the bloody battle of Dunkerque, opened the flood sluices and poured the sea into the escape port to England.

Under orders to fight to the death, the hopelessly outnumbered British troops were reported yielding slowly, in bitter fighting, before the onslaught of Nazi forces of Suda Bay.

While big German transport ships, operating from the Greek mainland 100 miles away, ferried steady stream of reinforcements, there was no indication that the British made any attempt to drive more troops.

The Germans said flatly that the British were trying to flee the island, declaring that Stuka dive-bombers sank five transports and damaged two others in Suda Bay yesterday, inflicting heavy losses on Allied troops attempting to reach the ships.

Italy's High Command said Fascist warplanes scored torpedo hits on three British cruisers and sank another in Crete waters.

In the defense again, it appeared to have been the "Achilles heel" of the Allies. Greek Prime Minister Emmanuel Tsouderous said German bombers had smashed principal Crete cities of Candia, capital, Candia and Retimo, with such fury that "not one stone is left standing."

Tsouderous charged that the German raiders "ruthlessly machine-gunned" the Crete civilian population, particularly children, and (Turn to Page Ten)

WAR AIMS ARE OUTLINED IN TALK BY EDEN

London, May 29.—(P)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, in his first comprehensive statement on Britain's war aims, declared today that "our political and military terms of peace will be designed to prevent a repetition of Germany's misdeeds."

Eden said that "under the system of free economic cooperation, Germany must play a part. But here I draw a firm distinction."

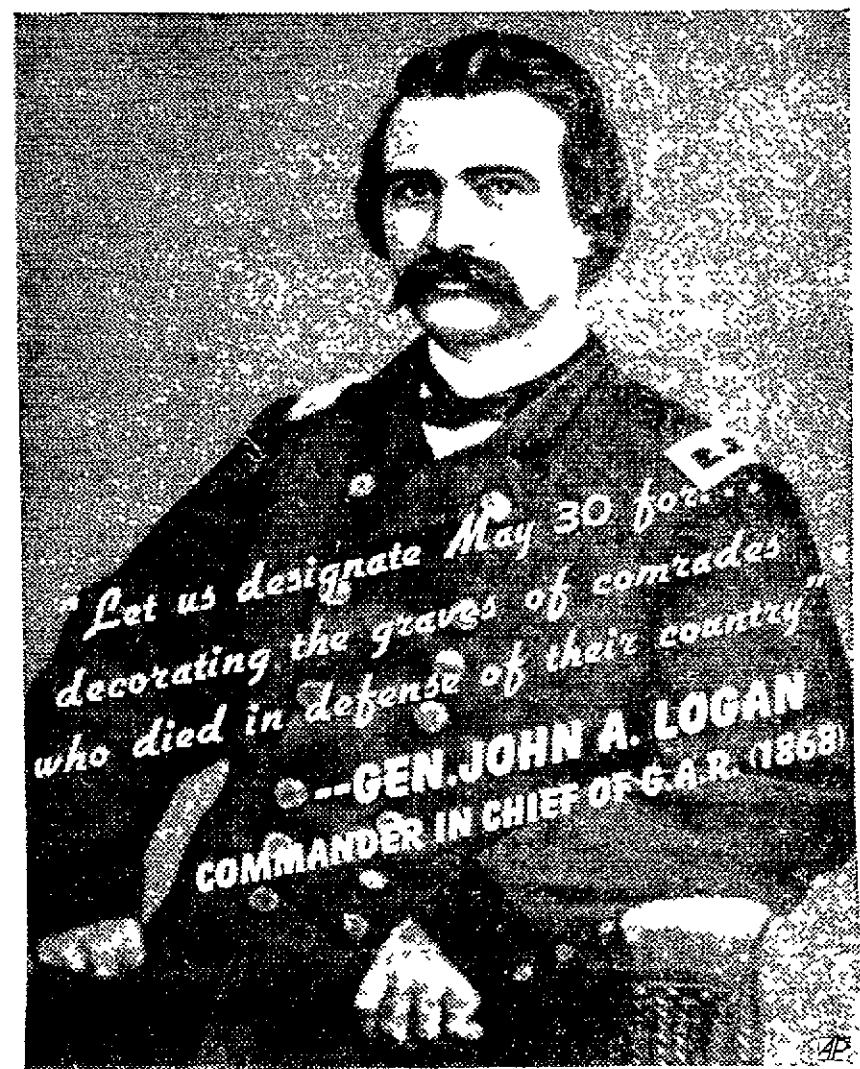

"We must never forget that Germany is the worst master Europe has yet known. Five times in the last century she has violated the peace. She must never be in a position to play that role again."

Eden, addressing a London audience, termed President Roosevelt's fireside chat Tuesday night "a momentous world event" because, "by his words, the president has given resolute expression to the fixed determination of the most powerful nation on earth."

He asserted that "a lasting settlement and internal peace of the world can only be achieved by the (Turn to Page Ten)

Interior Secretary Ickes Advocates Daylight Saving Time on Nationwide Scale, and Suggests That America May Have to Resort to Restricted Use of Electricity and Automobiles to Meet Power Shortages

NIGHT BASEBALL MAY ALSO BE SUSPENDED

Washington, May 29.—(P)—Interior Secretary Ickes today advocated daylight saving time on a nationwide scale and suggested that America may have to resort to restricted use of electricity and automobiles to meet power shortages.

The statement came as an official of the Federal Power Commission foresaw a power emergency, "perhaps the most serious in history," and revealed studies were being made on means of diverting power from civilian to industrial uses, to prevent interruption of defense production.

Daylight saving, Ickes said, could be instituted by an act of congress to save substantial amounts of power.

In mentioning the possibility of priorities in the use of power, the secretary said restricted consumption might easily include night baseball, and he commented, "It's more important to make aluminum than to have night baseball."

The power shortage he said might "be met by moral suasion through civilians voluntarily restricting consumption."

Turning to oil, Ickes told his press conference the problem was strictly one of transportation and he foresaw a possibility of restricted use, especially on the eastern seaboard.

In this connection he advocated oil pipe lines from the south to the east, where severe shortages of oil are feared because of the transfer of one-fifth of the American tanker fleet to British service. Survey of Associated Press Covering 60 Of 67 Counties, Discloses Only 83 of Men Who Engaged in Civil War Still Survive

OLDEST IS 103 YEARS

Harrisburg, May 29.—(P)—A small band of feeble "boys in blue" march again tomorrow in Pennsylvania, the last time many of them will answer the Memorial Day call.

Once they numbered 337,936. As young men, more than three-quarters of a century ago, they shouldered arms to fight for their country.

Now, a survey by the Associated Press covering 60 of the state's 67 counties discloses only 83 of the men who engaged in the Civil War still survive. Nineteen counties reported no veterans residing within their borders.

Oldest of the survivors is William D. Welch, 103, of Dunlevy Washington county. Darius T. Hobbard, of Wellsboro Tioga county is 101. None of the veterans are less than 90 and half a dozen nudge the century mark.

Highest-ranking old soldier in the state is A. T. Anderson 95 of Washington immediate past national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Charles Washington, "Uncle Charlie" Hoin 94, Northampton county's last veteran, ran away from home in Pottsville when he was 17. He was sent to Annapolis Md. he says where "they drilled the hell out of us."

Daniel Null, 95, of Perkasie Lycoming county, served three enlistments and saw action at Antietam. His son, Stuart is a veteran of the Spanish-American war and his grandson Robert Null, is now serving with the U. S. marines in the Philippines.

The veterans never accepted J. Mervin Miller, now 94, of Mercer as a soldier, he says because he served with a moving contingent that was called up at the time of Morgan's raid. But, unlike considerable veterans he was present when Morgan was captured. Furthermore he says, he has a photograph showing him in the full uniform of the U. S. army.

Ninety-seven years of age haven't driven Robert H. Hobbard of Caydonville into a wheel chair. He still operates a candy and ice cream shop there.

Rural Berks county's survivor, James B. Decker 91 of Strasburg, enlisted as a drummer boy when he was 14 but he didn't stay drummer boy long. He smashed his drum so he could be given a rifle and he went through (Turn to Page Ten)

'Protect Living As Well As Honor the Dead' Is Admonition of National Safety Council

Chicago, May 29.—(P)—The National Safety Council sternly predicted today that the American vacation season might be started with the largest Memorial Day toll in history.

Some 400 lives over the past year were prevented by the only by extraordinary means of motorists and pedestrians.

Fatalities already are running ahead of last year's figures. In the first four months of this year, 10,750 persons were killed, compared with 9,290 the same period last year.

April alone, the death toll was 2,600, 16 per cent more than the 2,210 in April 1940.

In the light of these rising figures the council called upon every one to carry the Memorial Day spirit one step further by protecting the living as well as honoring the dead.

Increased travel was held to be a factor in the rise but the council said the upward death trend was mainly entirely on rural roads and smaller towns, where traffic deaths are almost one-fourth greater than last year.

Among the cities reporting perfect four-month records of no fatalities were Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Butler, Pa.

SUDA BAY FALLS AS ITALIANS ENTER BATTLE OF CRETE

CAPTURE OF HARBOR MAY BE A DECIDING FACTOR IN STRUGGLE

Berlin, May 29.—(P)—German troops occupied Candia, Crete, today, DNB, official German news agency, announced. The town's airport and harbor were taken over by the advancing Germans, the news agency said, adding that several hundred Allied soldiers were captured. "We have no time for personalities, no time for factionalism," said Senator Guffey, "and those who will indulge in it under the conditions facing us today must stand self-condemned as more interested in self than in their party or their country."

Lawrence, following the senator, declared:

"I sound a warning here tonight to all brass hats of the party: Woe to any leader who wrecks the situation as it exists tonight in the state of Pennsylvania. We as a party tonight are a unit but we cannot remain a unit when someone is stabbing another Democrat in the back."

The senator described Achterman as "typical of the aggressive (Turn to Page Ten)

'SAVE FREEDOM' RALLY AT PHILLY

Philadelphia, May 29.—(P)—"If war comes, the sooner we get it over the better," declares New York's Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia in urging support of what he terms President Roosevelt's "proclamation of freedom."

"We American people would rather voluntarily share now with England than be forced to negotiate later with Hitler," the nation's civilian defense chief told a "Save Freedom" gathering of 12,000 persons last night.

Survey of Associated Press Covering 60 Of 67 Counties, Discloses Only 83 of Men Who Engaged in Civil War Still Survive

OLDEST IS 103 YEARS

By the Associated Press

Harrisburg, May 29.—(P)—A small band of feeble "boys in blue" march again tomorrow in Pennsylvania—the last time many of them will answer the Memorial Day call.

Once they numbered 337,936. As young men, more than three-quarters of a century ago, they shouldered arms to fight for their country.

Now, a survey by the Associated Press covering 60 of the state's 67 counties discloses only 83 of the men who engaged in the Civil War still survive. Nineteen counties reported no veterans residing within their borders.

Oldest of the survivors is William D. Welch, 103, of Dunlevy, Washington county. Darius T. Holiday, of Wellsboro, Tioga county, is 101. None of the veterans are less than 90 and half a dozen nudge the century mark.

Highest-ranking old soldier in the state is A. T. Anderson, 95, of Washington, immediate past national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Charles Washington "Uncle Charlie" Horn, 94, Northampton county's last veteran, ran away from home in Pottsville when he was 17. He was sent to Annapolis, Md., he says, where "they drilled the hell out of us."

Daniel Null, 95, of Perryville, Lycoming county, served three enlistments and saw action at Antietam. His son, Stuart, is a veteran of the Spanish-American war and his grandson, Robert Null, is now serving with the U. S. marines in the Philippines.

The veterans never accepted J. Melvin Miller, now 94, of Mercer, as a soldier, he says, because he served with a riving contingent that was called up at the time of Morgan's raid. But, unlike considerable veterans, he was present when Morgan was captured. Furthermore, he says, he has a photograph showing him in the full uniform of the U. S. army.

Ninety-seven years of age haven't driven Veteran Robert H. Tralles of Carbonate into a wheely chair. He still operates a candy and ice cream shop there.

Rural Berks county's survivor, James B. Decker, 93, of Strausstown, enlisted as a drummer boy when he was 14—but he didn't stay drummer boy long. He smashed his drum so he could be given a rifle and he went through (Turn to Page Ten)

'Protect Living As Well As Honor the Dead' Is Admonition of National Safety Council

Chicago, May 29.—(P)—The National Safety Council sinistinely predicted today that the American vacation season might be started this weekend with the largest Memorial Day traffic toll in history.

A loss of some 400 lives over the weekend can be prevented, the council stated, only by extraordinary caution of motorists and pedestrians.

Traffic fatalities already are running 1,500 ahead of last year, the council reported. In the first four months of this year, 10,780 persons were killed, compared with 9,290 for the same period last year. In April alone, the death toll was 2,600, 16 per cent more than the 2,240 killed in April, 1940.

SOLEMN EXERCISES ARRANGED

General Observance In Warren to Open With Parade Which Will Move Promptly at Ten O'clock to be Followed by Usual Programs at Stand and G. A. R. Circle in Oakland Cemetery; Last War Veteran to Participate

ANNUAL FIELD MASS IN ST. JOSEPH'S PLANNED

Residents of Warren will join with those throughout the nation tomorrow in paying tribute to their war dead with a parade and exercises at Oakland cemetery, and a general cessation of business activities.

With an ever-extending world war adding to the gravity of the occasion, it is expected that more than the usual number of persons will be on hand for tomorrow's exercises and addresses will be in a more serious vein than for many years past.

The general observance here will open with the parade, which will form on Fourth avenue at 9:30 a. m. and move promptly at 10 o'clock. The line of march will be south in Market street to Pennsylvania avenue, west to the Hickory street bridge and thence to the G. A. R. stand at Oakland cemetery, where the formal program will be held.

Participating in the parade, which is in charge of Lewis M. Clark Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, assisted by Dinsmoor-Schwing Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be representatives of local service organizations and civic groups. Music will be provided by the V. F. W. Band, American Legion Drum Corps and Warren High School Dragon Band.

Charles E. Rohlin is marshal of the parade, with William E. Yeager as chief of staff and W. Homer Fitch as adjutant.

CRUISER YORK LOST SAYS ADMIRALTY

London, May 29.—(P)—The British cruiser York has been lost, it was announced officially today.

The admiralty said the 8,250-ton warship, which normally carried a crew of 600 men, "is not now regarded as a total loss."

The ship was damaged some time ago and was under repair in Suda Bay when the attack on Crete began and since has been repeatedly bombed, the statement said.

The admiralty said the only casualties, however, were two killed and five wounded.

The York, whose chief weapons were six eight-inch guns, was the eighth cruiser the British have officially acknowledged losing since the start of the war.

Increased travel was held to be a factor in the rise, but the council said, "the upward death trend can be blamed entirely on rural areas and smaller towns, where traffic deaths are almost one-fourth greater than last year."

Among the cities reporting perfect four-months records of no fatalities were Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Butler, Pa.

Unusual Lamp Being Displayed At Bank

There is on display in a Liberty street window of the Warren National Bank an interesting exhibit in the form of a desk lamp made from a fired 75 mm. shell. All parts of the lamp are made from used and discarded Army equipment. The tubes are used oil tubing from tractors, and 45 and 30 calibre shells are used effectively in appropriate places.

The lamp is elaborately engraved with scroll work, showing the artillery battery company insignia, all this being done by hand with a hammer and punch and requiring months of spare time. The base of the lamp is Hawaiian mahogany.

The work was done by Clayton Kohler, 204 Wood street, while a soldier at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, and was loaned the bank by Mrs. A. Kohler, North Warren.

TASTY BAKERY WILL OPEN AT NEW LOCATION

On June 9th, Leo Patsky, owner of the Tasty Bakery, will open a new, modern plant at 3:30, Pennsylvania avenue, west, it was announced today.

The Tasty Bakery, long noted for quality baked goods, has been operated by Mr. Patsky for about four years at 210 Hickory street. For many years prior to that time it was operated by the late H. J. Biber.

During the week of June 9th, business will be operated as usual at a new address and on Saturday, June 14th, a formal opening will be held. Mr. Patsky will be on hand to meet his old friends and invites new customers to visit what promises to be one of the most modern retail bakeries in this territory.

PIAA Will Sponsor State Rifle Shoot

Harrisburg, May 29.—(P.)—Expanding interest among high school students in rifle shooting prompted the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association today to declare the first state-wide championship in this sport.

The title shootoff will be held in State College next April after divisional and regional competition during the school year.

Secretary Edmund J. Wicht said at least 45 teams already have been established by PIAA schools. The idea has been encouraged by the PIAA, Wicht said, because "with the stress on national defense, every person should know how to handle a rifle."

Competition in the sport will be indoors with the students firing from prone position at targets. They use .22 calibre rifles.

According to recent reports, nearly 85 per cent of all private flying accidents during 1940 were due to violations of state and federal regulations.

Special Programs On Networks Friday

(Time is Eastern Standard) New York, May 29.—Special programs come to the networks Friday as part of the observance of Memorial Day.

One is a three-point description of the Indianapolis motor speedway races for the start, the midway and the finish. NBC-Blue will be on at 11 a. m., 12:45 and 3:15 p. m., while MBS will broadcast at 10:45 a. m., 1:30 and 3 p. m.

Another will be the G. A. R. services at Arlington cemetery, to be heard on NBC-Blue and MBS at 1 P. M., with Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines as speaker.

Raymond Massey will portray Abraham Lincoln again for CBS at 10 a. m.

A day of checking up indicates that an audience of a size never before equaled tuned in President Roosevelt's national emergency speech.

Its exact proportions on a world-wide basis might be difficult to determine, but the Hooper reports estimated 70 per cent of the radio families in the U. S. were tuned in, augmented by thousands of taxi, auto and portable sets. This figure compares with 59 per cent for the president's December 29 broadcast, the previous high. The short wave audience, particularly in Latin America, and the British Isles, also was at a peak, aided by local station relays.

A trans-Atlantic two-way exchange of views on Civilian Defense will bring Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, national director, to a microphone in New York, and Herbert Morrison, British Minister for Home Security, to a London studio for a CBS broadcast at 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

"SIS HOPKINS"

At The Library Theatre Friday and Saturday

A picture that is definitely the gayest, maddest piece of fun to come out of Hollywood this season is the new Republic musical "Sis Hopkins," starring Judy Canova, which opens Friday and Saturday at the Library Theatre.

Miss Canova, a long-time favorite of radio and stage, who came into her own on the screen with Republic's "Scatterbrain" of last year, is seen in another of her imitable performances as the country miss who causes friction in the big city. She enters the household of her henpecked Uncle Horace (played by Charles Butterworth) and innocently steals the heart of young Jeff Parnsworth (Bob Crosby) from her cousin Carol (Susan Hayward).

Gene Autry finds himself at cross purposes with a willful, high-spirited society girl in "The Singing Hill," latest of his musical westerns on his Republic contract, which is scheduled to open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Columbia Theatre.

ous clubs have notified their membership that attendance at this function will keep their perfect attendance record intact. Members of these clubs are urged to contact their officers if they have not secured their tickets yet. This will mark the first time that the four leading service clubs of Warren county will meet in a group.

The committee also has some tickets available and they may be secured by contacting Boyd Sanden at 775 or any member of the Civic Club. The dinner will start promptly at 6:15 p. m. Attendees are reminded again that there will be a short recess at 7:45 to allow any who are planning to attend various functions to be held in Warren the same evening to leave. Friedman, All-American quarterback from the University of Michigan will base his talk on past experiences in collegiate and professional football. Friedman, coupled with Ben Oosterbaan, formed one of the greatest forward passing teams in the history of the country. Friedman was elected captain of the Michigan squad in 1926. At the present time he is coaching the College of the City of New York. Those who attend are assured a most interesting entertainment.

Reservations must be made not later than Saturday, May 31.

Special Programs On Networks Friday

(Time is Eastern Standard)
New York, May 29—Special programs come to the networks Friday as part of the observance of Memorial Day.

One is a three-point description of the Indianapolis motor speedway races for the start, the midway and the finish. NBC-Blue will be on at 11 a. m., 12:45 and 3:15 p. m., while MBS will broadcast at 10:45 a. m., 1:30 and 3 p. m.

Another will be the G. A. R. services at Arlington cemetery, to be heard on NBC-Blue and MBS at 1 P. M., with Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines as speaker.

Raymond Massey will portray Abraham Lincoln again for CBS at 10 a. m.

A day of checking up indicates that an audience of a size never before equaled tuned in President Roosevelt's national emergency speech.

Its exact proportions on a worldwide basis might be difficult to determine, but the Hooper reports estimated 70 per cent of the radio families in the U. S. were tuned in, augmented by thousands of taxi, auto and portable sets. This figure compares with 59 per cent for the president's December 29 broadcast, the previous high. The short wave audience, particularly in Latin America and the British Isles, also was at a peak, aided by local station relays.

A trans-Atlantic two-way exchange of views on Civilian Defense will bring Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, national director, to a microphone in New York, and Herbert Morrison, British Minister for Home Security, to a London studio for a CBS broadcast at 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

"SIS HOPKINS"

At The Library Theatre Friday and Saturday

A picture that is definitely the gayest, maddest piece of fun to come out of Hollywood this season is the new Republic musical "Sis Hopkins" starring Judy Canova, which opens Friday and Saturday at the Library Theatre.

Miss Canova, a long-time favorite of radio and stage, who came into her own on the screen with Republic's "Scatterbrain" of last year, is seen in another of her inimitable performances as the country miss who causes friction in the big city. She enters the household of her henpecked Uncle Horace (played by Charles Butterworth) and innocently steals the heart of young Jeff Farnsworth (Bob Crosby) from her cousin Carol (Susan Hayward).

at the Columbia Theatre. This light musical feature stars Edith Fellows and Wilbur Evans.

Adele Comandini, author of "Three Smart Girls," wrote the screenplay which gives Miss Fellows her first grown-up singing role. Edith plays the part of Linda Strong, the typical student, who thinks college was made for study until she meets Wilbur Evans, a famous concert singer who has come incognito to Lilac Valley, for a rest.

"The Singing Hill"

Gene Autry finds himself at cross purposes with a willful, high-spirited society girl in "The Singing Hill," latest of his musical westerns on his Republic contract, which is scheduled to open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Columbia Theatre.

With beautiful blonde Virginia Dale in the role of Jo Adams, the spoiled debutante, the picture features the ubiquitous Smiley Burnette, as well as Mary Lee, Gerald Oliver Smith, Spencer Charters and George Meeker.

Memorial Day Highway Safety Principles

Safety * Security * Service

Let us dedicate ourselves to the principles of SAFETY—SECURITY—SERVICE while honoring our heroic dead upon what may prove to be the most momentous Memorial Day in our nation's history.

SAFETY guarantees SECURITY which depends upon SERVICE in all things—above all others SERVICE to our fellowman—the motorist—the pedestrian.

Motorists and pedestrians should remember those principles in the weekend holidays ahead when, it is indicated, highway traffic will reach an all time high record. Think for the other fellow. Keep him SAFE and SECURE by SERVING him as well as yourself.

Observance is the keynote of Memorial Day. Let us adhere to it by strictly observing the traffic laws and the rules of the road. Drive carefully. Have your car checked—brakes, lights, tires and steering wheel—before you start. Keep within the speed limit—fifty miles per hour. Don't pass on hills or on a curve. Be ready for all emergencies.

MEMORIAL DAY TALK IS HEARD BY KIWANIS

"Dreams and Realities" was the subject of an impressive Memorial Day talk given at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Warren Kiwanis Club at the Carver Hotel by Thomas E. Colley, pastor of the First Methodist church.

During the meeting, the club voted to join with the Rotary and Lions clubs in a meeting with the North Warren Civic Club next Tuesday evening when Benny Friedman will be the speaker.

President Charles Lindberg named a committee to contact other service clubs regarding plans to raise funds for the crippled children's work in the county. On this committee are Bruce H. Trussler, M. G. Keller, H. D. Harris and Dr. E. S. Briggs.

BEYOND LIFE
Lay the flowers gently on the sod, prop the wreath carefully against the monument. The dead will not hear, nor see, nor smell, nor be disturbed. They had their hour; brief it was. They were cut down in their youth and in their strength.
Before the unseen bullet came or the unheard shell detonated, they lived many lives in one. They knew the sweet knowledge of what it is to put something else before self. Many do not learn this in a long lifetime, though it is one of the things we are put on earth to learn. They learned the lesson that was taught of old:

Verily, verily, I say unto you. Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.
He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hath his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal.

These men we honor today died for us. They died because, with what vision was granted to them at the time, it seemed the only way to preserve something more precious than life.

Did you ever talk to a soldier? You wouldn't hear them say anything like that. If the subject were brought up, you would get only a deprecatory shrug,
a swift change of subject, perhaps even an obscenitydecked denial. Men who become soldiers don't talk about saving democracy, or of devotion to freedom.
Don't let that fool you. The devotion is there, too deep for expression sometimes, too latent for thought,
but it is there.

It was there in all of these dead when they were young and tanned and strong. Because they had it; because, though any of them would have fumbled and blushed, and denied his devotion, it was deep within him even to death; because of these things we are what we are today.

We can do nothing for these dead any more. They do not see our ministrations nor smell the fresh blossoms. What we do today in honoring them is really for ourselves.

It is a rededication of ourselves to the end that we shall not, in any evil day, prove less than they.

WASHINGTON ABBREVIATIONS
Every little defense movement in Washington now has a meaning all its own and a set of initials. In case you haven't kept up, here are a few of the defense initials more commonly used:

OEM—Office for Emergency Management, top holding company of the defense effort. OPM—Office of Production Management, the Knudsen-Hillman outfit.
OCD—Office of Civilian Defense, LaGuardia's new division. SDU—Special Defense Unit, in the Department of Justice. OPACS—Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, headed by Leon Henderson. CND—Council of National Defense, the cabinet war policy group. NDRC—National Defense Research Committee,
the inventors. EC—Export Control, headed by Lt.-Col.
Russell L. Maxwell. NDMB—National Defense Mediation Board, to settle strikes. FSA—Federal Security Agency. That's Paul V. McNutt. Not strictly a defense agency but its divisions, like SSB, WPA, CCC, and NYA, have a lot of defense work. DHC—Defense Housing Co-ordinator, also Defense Homes Corporation.
OGR—Call it OGRE if you like. The Office of Government Reports, which is a tame old sheep, but has everybody scared for fear it will put on wolf feathers and become an office of censorship.

In deciding to come to Warren for its 10th annual meeting in 1942 the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran Church of America not only pays a high tribute to the First Lutheran congregation but also brings an unusual honor to the community in general.

School pupils are not the only folks who have to worry about tests. Approximately fifty young people who have been taking the second ground school course under the Civilian Pilot Training program are scheduled for "final exams" tonight.

Entries from the H. A. Logan stables are certainly putting Warren on the map at the nation horse show this week.

EDSON IN WASHINGTON

Washington, May 29—For some time the bright collegiate economists and lawyers attached to the staff of Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, have been doing a little job akin to post-graduate research for their master's theses on the subject of price control legislation.

They have boned up on the crazy proposals that have been submitted to Congress in years past, and they have gone into experiments of European countries with price control legislation and administration. All their research has been highly confidential.

Henderson himself, testifying recently before the House Ways and Means Committee, indicated that his office had all the legislation now required to enforce his edicts. Earlier, he had indicated to a conference of retailers that if he got 85 per cent compliance that would be sufficient. The general assumption is that all this cramming by the brains departments was simply to prepare additional price control legislation, should it be needed.

Don't be too surprised, therefore,
some fine day the President reaches into his hat and pulls out a message to Congress asking for a little more legislation to stiffen price control administration.

It isn't from the previous American thinking on this subject that the best laboratory material is obtained today, but from experiences of Germany. Ever since World War I, the Germany of the Kaiser,
the Weimar Republic and the National Socialists have dabbled with price fixing until now they have it down to a science, if not a racket.
Independent of the OPACS research, Louis Domaratzky, regional information chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has made a thorough survey of the German systems, and his findings form an illuminating dis-

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921
Last summer housing conditions were so acute in Warren that several families lived in tents until late in the fall. There is a call for tents again this summer and before long many white tents will be seen in the outskirts of the city.
Plans are under way to reorganize the old Warren Cadet Corps.
Quite a number of suits are in the hands of former members and these will be used to complete the organization.
The corridors of the Warren National Bank are being brightened with a fresh coat of paint and the interior of that institution is quite different, reminding one of a tourist trap in full operation.
Harold Bestrom left Sunday for New York, sailing Tuesday for a trip to Sweden, and will spend the greater part of the summer in Stockholm.
No arrests were made over the weekend. There were many strangers in town and some indications that a cargo of booze might have arrived from somewhere.
Murray Cameron, who has been spending a furlough here, leaves
Tuesday to join his ship, the U.
S. S. Utah, stationed at Boston.
"Man-Woman-Marriage" with Dorothy Phillips as the star, presented at the Liberty theatre yesterday, and a figure.

In 1931
The contract for construction of the new Warren post office building has been awarded and one of the stipulations will be that it must be completed in 360 calendar days.
Congress has appropriated $290,- 000, to include purchase of site, cost of construction and other incidental expenses.
The conference committee report on the reapportionment bill meets with general approval among Warren political observers. Westmoreland county now becomes the 28th district, instead of Venango, Wreren, Mercer, Forest and Elk counties. These counties with Clarion, become the 27th district.
The annual Class Day exercises will be held in the high school this evening with the following taking part:
Edison, Rachel Olson, James Mc-Connell, Leroy Gilson, Louise Condit, William Moran, Martha Dentler, Robert Hanson, Jane Kinkaid,
C. Wallace Lott, Arthur Carlson,
Gilbert Check, Gerald Irwin, Robert Wheelock, Edith Stein and June DeFrees.
Along the highways the past week are many spots made beautiful by the abundant, luxurious growth of the honeysuckle.
The "Trade in Warren" drive is attracting persons as far away as Pittsburgh and Erie and intervening towns.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Fall of French Bastille

OBSERVANCE OF Bastille Day
In France on July 14 will be tinged with sadness again this year. For Bastille Day is France's symbol of independence—the anniversary of the day when Parisian multitudes stormed the ancient prison and razed it. This event, in 1789, marked the beginning of the French Revolution which was to drive out tyranny and despotism.

The stamp above, showing the Fall of the Bastille, was issued in 1939 as a semi-postal airmail for the colonies on the 170th anniversary of the ancient prison's destruction.
After continually rebuffing the will of the people, Louis XVI dismissed a minister favorable to the masses. The news was spread around Paris on July 12, and two days later mobs and some French soldiers marched to the Bastille
on the outskirts of Paris.
The infuriated Parisians released all the prisoners and killed
the commander of the fortress.
Fires were set and later the walls of the fortress were pulled down
"stone by stone."
Key to the Bastille was later sent to George Washington by Lafayette and the memento is still on display at Mount Vernon.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
Last of a series on Defense and American motoring.
WASHINGTON—Motorists on the United States highways
this summer will be bucking the traffic of national defense.
Maybe it will be in some such situation as at Camp Dix, N. J., on a recent weekend when in a single day, 15,000 persons,
all in cars or buses, visited the training center.
Maybe, it will be coming in behind comparatively slow-moving army truck convoys on a two-lane highway. Perhaps it will be meeting up with armored units on maneuvers. Or it may be simply getting caught in the jams of workers that pour into and out of defense plants at shift change.
The army and the American Automobile Association have gone into a huddle over these possibilities and have tried to work out some rules that may save Mike Motorist from feeling like using a lot of blue-flame language.
A Set Of Rules
THE AAA has prepared a set of rules for visiting camps which includes such things as advice that you know the exact locations of the camp, number of the division, regiment, battalion or squadron, the letter designating company, battery, or troop, and the branch of service in which the man you are going to visit is training. Be sure that you are going during visiting hours and when the man is free from duty.
This will prevent congestion at the camp.
Before you leave, find out if there are good alternate roads.
Often the "back roads" are much faster and more pleasant than the main highways.
According to Capt. Paul W.
Thompson of the army engineers, convoys move in groups of from several to 50 trucks. Longer convoys are always broken up into "serials" of 50. On a good open highway, these will move at from 30 to 35 miles an hour and are spaced so that if a motorist has to pass, he may pass one at a time, dropping back into the line. How-

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN
The names Gilbert and Sullivan bring to mind a series of swift-spoken, melodious comic operas that have been favorites with English and American audiences for more than 50 years. You shouldn't have much trouble with these questions about the composers and their familiar works.
1. Who wrote the lyrics to the operas Gilbert and Sullivan, and when did they write their works?
2. What position in the British government was held by the "ruler of the queen's navy" in "H. M. S. Pinafore" and what was his name?
3. What was the peculiar rooming arrangement of Cox and Box?
4. Who were the Mikado, Ko-Ko, and Nanki-Poo in "The Mikado"?
5. When was Frederick's birthday in "Pirates of Penzance" and why was he unable to leave his apprenticeship with the pirates although he was actually 21 years old?

BEYOND LIFE

Lay the flowers gently on the sod, prop the wreath carefully against the monument. The dead will not hear, nor see, nor smell, nor be disturbed. They had their hour; brief it was. They were cut down in their youth and in their strength.

Before the unseen bullet came or the unheard shell detonated, they lived many lives in one. They knew the sweet knowledge of what it is to put something else before self. Many do not learn this in a long lifetime, though it is one of the things we are put on earth to learn. They learned the lesson that was taught of old:

Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal.

These men we honor today died for us. They died because, with what vision was granted to them at the time, it seemed the only way to preserve something more precious than life.

Did you ever talk to a soldier? You wouldn't hear them say anything like that. If the subject were brought up, you would get only a deprecatory shrug, a swift change of subject, perhaps even an obscenity-decked denial. Men who become soldiers don't talk about saving democracy, or of devotion to freedom. Don't let that fool you. The devotion is there, too deep for expression sometimes, too latent for thought, but it is there.

It was there in all of these dead when they were young and tanned and strong. Because they had it; because, though any of them would have fumbled and blushed, and denied his devotion, it was deep within him even to death; because of these things we are what we are today.

We can do nothing for these dead any more. They do not see our ministrations nor smell the fresh blossoms. What we do today in honoring them is really for ourselves.

It is a rededication of ourselves to the end that we shall not, in any evil day, prove less than they.

WASHINGTON ABBREVIATIONS

Every little defense movement in Washington now has a meaning all its own and a set of initials. In case you haven't kept up, here are a few of the defense initials more commonly used:

OEM—Office for Emergency Management, top holding company of the defense effort. OPM—Office of Production Management, the Knudsen-Hillman outfit. OCD—Office of Civilian Defense, LaGuardia's new division. SDU—Special Defense Unit, in the Department of Justice. OPACS—Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, headed by Leon Henderson. CND—Council of National Defense, the cabinet war policy group. NDRC—National Defense Research Committee, the inventors. EC—Export Control, headed by Lt.-Col. Russell L. Maxwell. NDMB—National Defense Mediation Board, to settle strikes. FSA—Federal Security Agency. That's Paul V. McNutt. Not strictly a defense agency but its divisions, like SSB, WPA, CCC, and NYA, have a lot of defense work. DHC—Defense Housing Co-Ordinator, also Defense Homes Corporation. OGR—Call it OGRE if you like, the Office of Government Reports, which is a tame old sheep, but has everybody scared for fear it will put on wolf feathers and become an office of censorship.

In deciding to come to Warren for its 10th annual meeting in 1942 the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran Church of America not only pays a high tribute to the First Lutheran congregation but also brings an unusual honor to the community in general.

School pupils are not the only folks who have to worry about tests. Approximately fifty young people who have been taking the second ground school course under the Civilian Pilot Training program are scheduled for "final exams" tonight.

Entries from the H. A. Logan stables are certainly putting Warren on the map at the Devon horse show this week.

• EDSON IN WASHINGTON

Washington, May 29.—For some time the bright collegiate economists and lawyers attached to the staff of Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, have been doing a little job akin to post-graduate research for their master's theses on the subject of price control legislation.

They have boned up on the crazy proposals that have been submitted to Congress in years past, and they have gone into experiments of European countries with price control legislation and administration. All their research has been highly confidential.

Henderson himself, testifying recently before the House Ways and Means Committee, indicated that his office had all the legislation now required to enforce his edicts. Earlier, he had indicated to a conference of retailers that if he got 85 per cent compliance that would be sufficient. The general assumption is that all this cramming by the brains departments was simply to prepare additional price control legislation, should it be needed.

Don't be too surprised, therefore, some fine day the President reaches into his hat and pulls out a message to Congress asking for a little more legislation to stiffen price control administration.

It isn't from the previous American thinking on this subject that the best laboratory material is obtained today, but from experiences of Germany. Ever since World War I, the Germany of the Kaiser, the Weimar Republic and the National Socialists have dabbled with price fixing until now they have it down to a science, if not a racket.

Independent of the OPACS research, Louis Demeretzky, regional information chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has made a thorough survey of the German systems, and his findings form an illuminating display of what you hope won't happen here.

A totalitarian regime is, as Demeretzky points out, in a better position for price control since it doesn't have to fear political consequences and its people take regulation with better grace. Back in the "free" Germany of the Kaiser's days, however, one of the first acts was a decree fixing maximum prices on all necessities, particularly food. That decree stuck throughout the war with various later controls on consumption, and it is held responsible for keeping speculation within bounds by regulation of source of supply and limitation of middlemen. Contrast that with America's experience in the last war when wholesale prices doubled.

Under the cartel system, price control was continued during the depression days of the German Republic, but it was after the advent of Hitler that it really got going, and this shows how these things can grow, once condoned.

A price commissar was named in 1936 who went way beyond mere watching of prices and actually intervened in their formation. It was a policy that the state should step in and prevent the free play of economic supply and demand as factors of price formation. The commissar's first decree ruthlessly prohibited price increases.

When the war came along, the Nazis had very little trouble putting their price fixing machinery into blitz gear. Wages, salaries and working conditions were frozen at pre-war level and extra payments were abolished for overtime. Prices were manipulated to guide production into desired channels. Finally, the price commissar advised producers and distributors that it was not sufficient merely to comply with orders—any profit regarded as excessive was to be applied to a reduction of price. Pretty picture, isn't it?

The contract for construction of the new Warren post office building has been awarded and one of the stipulations will be that it must be completed in 360 calendar days. Congress has appropriated $250,000 to include purchase of site, cost of construction and other incidental expenses.

The conference committee report on the reapportionment bill meets with general approval among Warren political observers. Westmoreland county now becomes the 28th district, instead of Venango, Warren, Mercer, Forest and Elk counties. These counties, with Clarion, become the 27th district.

Fall of French Bastille Ended Tyranny of Kings

OBSERVANCE of Bastille Day in France on July 14 will be tinged with sadness again this year. For Bastille Day is France's symbol of independence—the anniversary of the day when Parisian multitudes stormed the ancient prison and razed it. This event, in 1789, marked the beginning of the French Revolution which was to drive out tyranny and despotism.

The stamp above, showing the Fall of the Bastille, was issued in 1939 as a semi-postal airmail for the colonies on the 170th anniversary of the ancient prison's destruction.

After continually rebuffing the will of the people, Louis XVI dismissed a minister favorable to the masses. The news was spread around Paris on July 12, and two days later mobs and some French soldiers marched to the Bastille on the outskirts of Paris.

The infuriated Parisians released all the prisoners and killed the commander of the fortress. Fires were set and later the walls of the fortress were pulled down "stone by stone."

Key to the Bastille was later sent to George Washington by Lafayette and the memento is still on display at Mount Vernon.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
Last of a series on Defense and American motoring.

WASHINGTON—Motorists on the United States highways this summer will be bucking the traffic of national defense. Maybe it will be in some such situation as at Camp Dix, N. J., on a recent weekend when in a single day, 15,000 persons, all in cars or buses, visited the training center.

Maybe, it will be coming in because of comparatively slow-moving army truck convoys on a two-lane highway. Perhaps it will be meeting up with armored units on maneuvers. Or it may be simply getting caught in the jams of workers that pour out and out of defense plants at shift time.

The army and the American Automobile Association have gone into a huddle over these possibilities and have tried to work out some rules that may save Mike Motorist from feeling like using a lot of blue-flame language.

A Set Of Rules

THE AAA has prepared a set of rules for visiting camps which includes such things as advice that you know the exact location of the camp, number of the division, regiment, battalion or squadron, the letter designating company, battery or troop, and the branch of service in which the man you are going to visit is training. Be sure that you are going during visiting hours and when the man is free from duty. This will prevent congestion at the camp.

Before you leave, find out if there are good alternate roads. Often the "back roads" are much faster and more pleasant than the main highways.

According to Capt. Paul W. Thompson of the army engineers, convoys move in groups of from several to 50 trucks. Larger convoys are always broken up into "serials" of 50. On a good open highway, these will move at from 30 to 35 miles an hour and are spaced so that if a motorist has to pass, he may pass one at a time, dropping back into the line. However, the army doesn't try to minimize the danger of this, for although army drivers are praised as the best in the world, convoy trucks are heavy and any accidents are likely to be serious.

Every two hours, convoys halt and pull off the road. During this time, congested traffic caused by them will have a little time to straighten out.

As the very best solution to the motorist's problem, Captain Thompson suggests consulting local motoring clubs or officials (in almost all instances, they will be informed of the movement of convoys as well as of mechanized units) and try to avoid routes the army is using.

Must Have Right-Of-Way

IN CITIES and in some cases on the highways, convoys will be paced by police escorts and in this instance, they should be regarded as ambulances. Cars should pull over and stop until they have passed. And at an intersection, no effort should be made to break through the line.

Even a strict regard for these suggestions isn't going to keep motorists from running into trouble with national defense traffic, and it is no solution at all for the jams that are bound to result around camps on visiting days and around defense plants where roads to housing centers are inadequate.

For these, the motorist will have to learn to avoid them as much as possible and wait until Congress and the road builders have done their job on the proposed $287,000,000 defense highway bill.

THE SACRED DAGGER

By Rita Mohler Hanson

YESTERDAY: At least Anne is no longer lost in a snowstorm on the plains of Yangsar. She and the two men who were taking her to her father's desert camp have been rescued, but Sherwood and Pete Mackey, the men, are being taken as prisoners to the Emir. Anne has been smuggled away, however, to the Princess in the Emir's palace, and the Princess has agreed to smuggle her out again and send her to her friends.

Chapter Nine Harem Life

KHALIMA brought up her traveling case. Servants carried in a large brass bread basin and filled it with warm, rose-scented water. Anne soaped and scoured and cold creamed and finally brushed her teeth with salt and charcoal, before a giggling and delighted audience.

More rugs were placed on the tiled floor, strewn with little tables for dishes and with bolsters on which to recline. Girls brought in the evening meal, saffron soup in which pieces of chicken floated, rice and mutton, thin sheets of bread and rose-leaf jam, sweet cakes and lumps of colored sugar, cheese, pale pink tea, and jugs of sour milk.

Anne lay back on her bolster and discovered the thing seemed stuffed with turnips instead of feathers. But she was so tired that after the meal she took a nap while the other women smoked their water pipe.

When she woke up at sundown, the small opium pipes with porcelain bowls and wooden stems were brought in. Girls rolled the sticky pellets above fragments of glowing charcoal and passed them around. Anne shook her head; the nauseating smell was enough for her.

"I have peace and joy without it," she told the Princess. "Will you send me across the border in the morning?"

The Princess nodded. One languid girl was playing a tambourine accompanied to a strange, high pitched song. Another looked at the pictures in a fashion magazine Anne had found in her suitcase. Two others were bickering. The whole outfit reminded her of children, laughing easily, quarreling easily and curling the serving women who dared not strike back.

"So this dreary round of know nothing, do nothing, go nowhere is harem life," thought Anne. She wondered if Sherwood and Mackey were in prison. She told the Princess about them.

"Are you in love with the treasure hunter?" the lady asked. "Certainly not," said Anne. "I hardly know the man."

"Good. For he will die. My husband wants that treasure. He kills white men who hunt for it. He wouldn't dare kill Mr. Sherwood," Anne cried. "The powerful Prince of Shan Lun is his friend."

"The Emir rules. When foreign governments enquire he says 'I know nothing of such a man.' She rose. "But come with me. One thing may happen."

The Shot

THEY ascended a stairway lined with mirrors and crossed a large room strewn and hung with carpets, to a latticed balcony overlooking the Emir's hall of audience.

A crowd of men were assembled. Anne saw the influence of India and Persia and China in the gorgeously colored garments they wore, some dressed in jacks and velvet, and others in embroidered turbans and a few wore jeweled gowns.

A dinner jacket and an aviator's uniform came into her line of vision. Sherwood and Mackey did not look like prisoners to Anne. She recognized the host, a small emaciated man, by the thimblelike platform on which he sat. He called Sherwood to him and they seemed to talk politely.

In the meantime the other men were eating or smoking and watching the dancing boys garbed in gay head-dresses and full silk trousers, and red Turkish slippers.

Suddenly a revolver shot rang out. It looked for a moment as if Sherwood had attacked the Emir and knocked him down. In another part of the room men were struggling and striking at a hidden figure. Then a body dripping from stab wounds was carried out. This man had fired the shot and Sherwood, in pushing the Emir over, had saved his life.

"The Sherwood luck still holds," thought Anne. The Princess turned away and put a hand to her face, overcome by emotion.

Presently she looked up. "We have failed again," she said. "Now there will be more sorrow and suffering in the land." Anne stared at her with widening eyes. So the Princess had known the shot would be fired! Perhaps harem life isn't such a do-nothing life after all, she thought.

When they returned to the woman's apartment they found Khalima there, waiting to bid Anne good-bye. She was returning home with a night-traveling caravan that had already passed through the city gates. Anne was tempted to return with her, half sick at the thought of being left in this palace where intrigue and sudden death were mated with a life so dull and pointless that the opium pipe was required to make it bearable. But then, she realized, returning to the desert was not escape.

They slept on mattresses on the floor without undressing, wrapping themselves individually like cocoons in gay heliotrope and orange quilts.

At daybreak a servant girl rushed in with news that a guard had been placed round the palace. No one entered or left except under strict watch. There had been street fighting during the night down along the water front.

The Princess rose, brushed at the wrinkles in her garments and went out. Anne put on the riding clothes she had worn under her old woman rags. Somehow, this nearest approach to masculine garb gave her a feeling of courage and security.

The Princess returned and spoke in a troubled voice. "You cannot leave the palace now, nor are you safe here. It has been discovered the assassin had a sister who was thrown from the tower an hour ago. The Emir personally will inspect the rest of us."

"What can I do?" cried Anne. "Where can I hide?" The woman was silent for a moment.

"There is no place to hide. Last night my husband's eldest daughter went out to meet a lover. She has not been able to return. You might take her place. She has Persian eyes and the Emir is not observant."

"But if he discovered the deception he would kill me."

"Not kill you. Eventually he might sell you. At present he is curious about Western women. Last year he saw a moving picture, the only one that has ever come to our court. The woman looked at Anne with puzzled eyes.

"All! What strange lives you American girls lead. Dancing in men's arms, bathing with them, kissing them before you're married."

"Let me become an old woman again," Anne begged. "It is the safest disguise."

"My husband is causing the city to be searched for the Tibetan lama and his old mother. He has also heard of the young white woman who disappeared from the village of Yari in the storm. The white men are kept in the palace grounds. I do not know why."

"If only I could talk to them," Anne urged.

The woman considered a moment. "The tall one walks alone in the garden beside the river," she said. "There is a little door through the wall of the kitchen court. But if the Emir's servants should catch you."

"I'll take my chances," said Anne. Seeing her aviation helmet among her possessions she put it on and followed the Princess to the designated door, stepped through and flattened herself against the wall to take bearings. Leafy fruit trees hid her from the other part of the palace.

At the foot of a row of peach trees Gregory Sherwood stood looking across the river. She gave a low whistle. He turned, saw her and came up swiftly. She stepped into a summer pavilion heavily laced with grape vines.

"Anne," he whispered, catching her hands in glad surprise. "Because of these clothes you wear, I thought at first you were Mackey. Though I left him sound asleep. How goes it?"

She told him and asked: "What are your prospects?"

"I don't know," he confessed. "The Emir admits that I saved his life and declares that he's exceedingly grateful, but he won't let us leave. Says he must first give me a sufficient reward. The old devil! Instinct led me astray last night. I should never have pushed him out of the path of that bullet."

Tears threatened Anne's eyes. It was so good to hear this dear, delightful banter again. "Will any of us escape alive?"

"We're bound to," he assured her. You might ask your Princess if there is anything that I can do for her and her son. He's a fugitive right now conspiring against his father. Tell her I apologize for saving the Emir's life last night. And Anne should an opportunity come for me to help you."

"You've helped me already," she confessed, "my spirit at least." withdrawing her hands from his clasp, a bit abashed by his steady scrutiny of her face.

He shook his head. "I made a terrible mistake not kissing you that time. Shall I be such a fool again?"

He had her in his arms. After a moment's surrender she broke away sharply, incensed at herself as well as at him.

"We must stop playing like this," she cried.

"Why—when it takes us to paradise?" She refused to succumb to his spirit again.

Suddenly they heard the patter of bare feet. Anne turned her back and stood there, head down, tense as a game bird. Sherwood had stepped to the opening and kept the servant outside the pavilion. They talked; one voice deep, virile, decisive, the words sharply clipped, the other gentle as the chatter of timid morning birds. Anne didn't know if she was seen or not. She barely breathed.

The man left and Sherwood returned. Anne stared at him for a moment, white faced.

U. S. O. SABBATH OBSERVANCE IS BEING PLANNED

New York, N. Y., May 29.—An inter-faith religious celebration, with virtually every priest, rabbi, minister and regular church-goer in the United States participating, will be held June 6, 7 and 8, it was announced here today at headquarters of United Service Organizations for National Defense.

The festival will be known as U. S. O. Sabbath. Walter Hoving, president of the organization, explained that the observance will emphasize the inter-faith cooperation of member agencies of U. S. O.

Since the organization will operate a broad-range recreational program for those in the armed forces and defense industries, participation in the Sabbath celebration by soldiers, sailors and aviators will be featured. Sermons on morale and kindred subjects are being planned by ministers, priests and rabbis.

In many churches special sections will be set aside for men in uniform. In some cases they will march to worship in units.

Advance notice of U. S. O. Sabbath and requests for cooperation by the entire clergy have gone out from the Clergy Advisory Board composed of the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church; the Most Rev. Edward Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit, and the Rev. Dr. Edward L. Israd, President of the Synagogue Council of America.

Hundreds of replies endorsing U. S. O. Sabbath and offers to help in its observance have been received. Church councils and federations everywhere also have promised support. Governors of most, if not all, states will proclaim the event. The opening observance will be held in Orthodox Jewish Synagogues on Friday evening, June 6, continuing through Saturday.

Saturday evening, at 10:30, there will be a half-hour radio "Call to the Faith," over a network of the National Broadcasting Co. Participating will be prominent clergymen from each of the three religious faiths.

On Sunday, Protestant, Catholic and some Jewish groups will continue the celebration. Many cities, through local U. S. O. committees and ministerial cooperation, are planning special inter-faith sunrise services. There also will be radio broadcasts. At 6 o'clock Sunday evening there will be a minute of silent prayer for those in the service of the country.

In connection with U. S. O. Sabbath, families everywhere are asked to entertain service men at noon-day dinners after church. This is being urged particularly in communities near cantonments and naval stations.

Many ministers have promised to ask parishioners to support the U. S. O. fund-raising campaign, which will have started on June 3. The drive is for $10,765,000 to finance the operation of more than 360 clubhouses for the leisure-time activity of soldiers, sailors and defense workers.

U. S. O. is composed of the Young Men's Christian Association, National Catholic Community Service, Salvation Army, Young Women's Christian Association, Jewish Welfare Board and National Travelers Aid Association.

Girl Scouts Ready For Camp

AN ALL DAY HIKE through the woods, with a cook-out at the point of destination is a favorite with all Girl Scouts. Beginning with the first warm day of spring, they get out stout shoes, heavy socks, begin preparations for the woodland walk that precedes the first savory meal in the out-of-doors. At Girl Scout camps, a hike to some favorite spot near a rushing brook where milk cans may be set to cool while fish and potatoes are baked in a wood fire, remain a Girl Scout's idea of fun.

The opening of the camp season is less than two weeks away for Warren county Girl Scouts. Mrs. Althea N. Correll, county director, said today, reminding the girls that the first session is from June 10 to 13 in the form of a Girl Scout "day" camp.

Two periods of Brownie "day" camp follow immediately, opening on June 17 and 21. Girl Scout camp sessions of seven, ten and ten days each, will take place in July, with a Brownie camp closing the season of organized camping from July 31 to August 6.

Money earned recently by the girls at the Girl Scout cookie sale has been put to work. The swimming pool is to receive a smooth finish and diving board. The ground around the pool will be graded and grass planted. The beautiful setting with its background of trees, makes the pool doubly attractive on a hot day.

The first two girls to register for the season at Camp Birdsell were Miss Margaret Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Lewis, who will be there for Brownie Week, and Miss Sophie Spindon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Spindon, who chose the ten-day session from July 18 to 23.

Rates for Girl Scout camping are the same as last year, despite high food costs, it is stated. For "day" camp, the fee is $1 for four days, which includes a hot luncheon every day. For Girl Scout and Brownie camp, the cost is $1 per day, with swimming instruction included in the fee.

The United States Army Air Corps chalked up more than 900,000 flying hours to its credit during 1940. In 1921, only 77,000 flying hours were credited to the army.

THE SACRED DAGGER

By Rita Mohler Harris

YESTERDAY: At least Anne is no longer lost in a snowstorm on the plains of Yangsar. She and the two men who were taking her to her father's desert camp have been rescued, but Blaise Sherwood and Pete Mackey, the men, are being taken as prisoners to the Emir. Anne has been smuggled away, however, to the Princess in the Emir's palace, and the Princess has agreed to smuggle her out again and send her to her friends.

Chapter Nine Harem Life

KHALIMA brought up her traveling case. Servants carried in a large brass bread basin and filled it with warm, rose-scented water. Anne soaped and scoured and cold creamed and finally brushed her teeth with salt and charcoal, before a giggling and delighted audience.

More rugs were placed on the tiled floor, strewn with little tables for dishes and with bolsters on which to recline. Girls brought in the evening meal—saffron soup in which pieces of chicken floated, rice and mutton, thin sheets of bread and rose-leaf jam, sweet cakes and lumps of colored sugar, cheese, pale pink tea, and jugs of sour milk.

Anne lay back on her bolster and discovered the thing seemed stuffed with turnips instead of feathers. But she was so tired that after the meal she took a nap while the other women smoked their water pipe.

When she woke up at sundown, the small opium pipes with porcelain bowls and wooden stems were brought in. Girls rolled the sticky pellets above fragments of glowing charcoal and passed her head; the nauseating smell was enough for her.

The Princess nodded. One languid girl was playing a tambourine accompanying to a strange, high pitched song. Another looked at the pictures in a fashion magazine Anne had found in her suitcase. Two others were bickering. The whole outfit reminded her of children, laughing easily, quarreling easily and cuffing the serving women who dared not strike back.

"So this dreary round of know nothing, do nothing, go nowhere is harem life," thought Anne. She wondered if Sherwood and Mackey were in prison. She told the Princess about them.

"Are you in love with the treasure hunter?" the lady asked. "Certainly not," said Anne flushing. "I hardly know the man."

"Good. For he will die. My husband wants that treasure. He kills white men who hunt for it. He wouldn't dare kill Mr. Sherwood," Anne cried. "The powerful Prince of Shani Lun is his friend."

"The Emir rules. When foreign governments enquire he says I know nothing of such a man," she rose. "But come with me. One thing may happen."

The Shot
THEY ascended a stairway lined with mirrors and crossed a large room strewn and hung with carpets, to a lattice balcony overlooking the Emir's hall of audience.

A crowd of men were assembled. Anne saw the influence of India and Persia and China in the gorgeously colored garments they wore, some dressed in jacks and voluminous trousers, others in embroidered gowns and a few wore jeweled turbans.

A dinner jacket and an aviator's uniform came into her line of vision. Sherwood and Mackey did not look like prisoners to Anne. She recognized the host, a small, amiable man, by the turrel-like platform on which he sat. He called Sherwood to him and they seemed to talk politely.

In the meantime the other men were eating or smoking and watching the dancing boys garbed in lacy head-dresses and full silk trousers, and red Turkish slippers.

Suddenly a revolver shot rang out. It looked for a moment as if Sherwood had attacked the Emir and knocked him down. In another part of the room men were struggling and striking at a hidden figure. Then a body dripping from stab wounds was carried out. This man had fired the shot and Sherwood, in pushing the Emir over, had saved his life.

"The Sherwood luck still holds," thought Anne.

The Princess turned away and put a hand to her face, overcome by emotion.

Presently she looked up. "We have failed again," she said. "Now there will be more sorrow and suffering in the land." Anne stared at her with widening eyes. So the Princess had known the shot would be fired! Perhaps harem life isn't such a do-nothing life after all, she thought.

When they returned to the woman's apartment they found Khalima there, waiting to bid Anne goodby. She was returning home with a night-traveling caravan that had already passed through the city gates. Anne was tempted to return with her, half sick at the thought of being left in this palace where intrigue and sudden death were mixed with a life so dull and pointless that the opium pipe was required to make it bearable. But then, she realized, returning to the desert was not escape.

They slept on mattresses on the floor without undressing, wrapping themselves individually like cocoons in gay heliotrope and orange quilts.

At daybreak a servant girl rushed in with news that a guard had been placed round the palace. No one entered or left except under strict watch. There had been street fighting during the night down along the water front.

The Princess rose, brushed at the wrinkles in her garments and went out. Anne put on the riding clothes she had worn under her old woman's rags. Somehow, this nearest approach to masculine garb gave her a feeling of courage and security.

The Princess returned and spoke in a troubled voice. "You cannot leave the palace now, nor are you safe here. It has been discovered the assassin had a sister among the harem servants. She was thrown from the tower an hour ago. The Emir personally will inspect the rest of us."

"What can I do?" cried Anne.

"Where can I hide?" The woman was silent for a moment.

"There is no place to hide. Last night my husband's eldest daughter went out to meet a lover. She has not been able to return. You might take her place. She has Persian eyes and the Emir is not observant."

"But if he discovered the deception he would kill me."

"Not kill you. Eventually he might sell you. At present he is curious about Western women."

Last year he saw a moving picture, the only one that has ever come to the palace. The woman looked at Anne with puzzled eyes. "All! What strange lives you Western girls lead. Dancing in men's arms, bathing with them, kissing them before you're married."

"Let me become an old woman again," Anne begged. "It is the safest disguise."

"My husband is causing the city to be searched for the Tibetan lama and his old mother. He has also heard of the young white woman who disappeared from the village of Yani in the storm. The white men are kept in the palace grounds. I do not know why."

"If only I could talk to them," Anne urged.

The woman considered a moment. "The tall one walks alone in the garden beside the river," she said. "There is a little door through the wall of the kitchen court. But if the Emir's servants should catch you—"

"I'll take my chances," said Anne. Seeing her aviation helmet among her possessions she put it on, and followed the Princess to the designated door, stepped through and flattened herself against the wall to take bearings. Leafy fruit trees hid her from the other part of the palace.

At the foot of a row of peach trees Gregory Sherwood stood looking across the river. She gave a low whistle. He turned, saw her and came up swiftly. She stepped into a summer pavilion heavily laced with grape vines.

"Anne," he whispered, catching her hands in glad surprise. "Because of these clothes you wear, I thought at first you were Mackey, though I left him sound asleep. How goes it?"

She told him and asked: "What are your prospects?"

"I don't know," he confessed. "The Emir admits that I saved his life and declares that he's exceedingly grateful, but he won't let us leave. Says he must first give me a sufficient reward. The old devil! Instinct led me astray last night. I should never have pushed him out of the path of that bullet."

Tears threatened Anne's eyes. It was so good to hear this dear, delightful banter again. "Will any of us escape alive?"

"We're bound to," he assured her. "You might ask your Princess if there is anything that I can do for her and her son. He's a fugitive right now conspiring against his father. Tell her I apologize for saving the Emir's life last night. And Anne, should an opportunity come for me to help you—"

"You've helped me already," she confessed. "My spirit at least," withdrawing her hands from his clasp, a bit abashed by his steady scrutiny of her face.

He shook his head. "I made a terrible mistake not kissing you that time. Shall I be such a fool again?"

He had her in his arms. After a moment's surrender she broke away sharply, incensed at herself as well as at him.

"We must stop playing like this," she cried.

"Why when it takes us to paradise?" She refused to succumb to his spell again.

Girl Scouts Ready For Camp

AN ALL DAY HIKE through the woods, with a cook-out at the point of destination is a favorite with all Girl Scouts. Beginning with the first warm day of spring, they get out stout shoes, heavy socks, begin preparations for the woodland walk that precedes the first savory meal in the out-of-doors. At Girl Scout camps, a hike to some favorite spot near a rushing brook where milk cans may be set to cool while fish and potatoes are baked in a wood fire, remain a Girl Scout's idea of fun.

The opening of the camp season is less than two weeks away for Warren County Girl Scouts. Mrs. Althea N. Correll, county director, said today, reminding the girls that the first session is from June 10 to 13 in the form of a Girl Scout "day" camp.

Two periods of Brownie "day" camp follow immediately, opening on June 17 and 24. Girl Scout camping, in sessions of seven, four and ten days each, will take place in July, with Brownie camp closing the season of organized camping from July 31 to August 6.

Money earned recently by the girls in the Girl Scout cookie sale has been put to work. The swimming pool is to receive a smooth finishing coat; also a cement sidewalk and diving board. The ground around the pool will be graded and grass planted. The beautiful setting, with its background of trees, makes the pool doubly attractive on a hot day.

The first two girls to register for the season at Camp Birdall today were Miss Margaret Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Lewis who will be there for Brownie Week, and Miss Sophie Spiridon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Spiridon, who chose the ten-day session from July 18 to 28.

Rates for Girl Scout camping are the same as last year, despite higher food costs, it is stated. For "day" camp, the fee is $1 for four days, which includes a hot luncheon each day. For Girl Scout and Brownie camp, the cost is $1 per day, with swimming instruction included in the fee.

Youngsville Junior High Program

Youngsville, May 29—Early Days of the Brokenstraw Valley was the theme of a pageant presented Wednesday evening at the high school auditorium as the feature of the commencement program for the one hundred members of the graduating class of Youngsville Junior High School.

Throughout the program, appropriate music was played by the high school orchestra under the direction of Byron Swanson. The large freshman chorus also participated in the program.

In the prologue of the pageant, the Spirit of Youngsville, Josephine Van Guiden, in flowing white robes, agrees to act as judge between the Spirit of Disaster, Norma See, and the Spirit of Progress, Barbara Kay, to determine which had played the greater part in Youngsville history.

The pageant itself was in ten episodes, each marking a turning point in Youngsville history. These episodes were as follows: Episode 1—A treaty is planned with the Indians. It was stated that the Lutz ambulance will be in the parade, while the Peterson and Gibson ambulances will be at their respective funeral homes, subject to call.

In observance of the day, business will be at a standstill here tomorrow, with only restaurants and service stations remaining open. State and federal offices will be closed, including state employment, public assistance, forestry, draft boards and state liquor store.

The post office will be closed all day and there will be no regular deliveries of mail, either local or rural. However, mail will be received and dispatched as usual and special delivery matter will be sent out.

Governor E. A. Tamm, high-ranking army officials and veterans of the Society of the 28th Division, A. E. F., will review the 28th. The governor will make an address.

ed by the governor and at the same millage rates as exacted in the current biennium.

The Senate also passed the personal property and bank shares taxes but restored them to four mills, after the House had cut them to three. As a result, these two had to be returned to the House for concurrence in the amendments with the probability that the lower chamber would refuse and a conference committee would be appointed to seek a compromise.

With the tax problems of the 1941 session nearly solved, the legislature turned its attention to the appropriations which go hand in hand to make up the budget for the next two years starting June 1.

The general appropriation bill of $188,000,000 is only a few steps from passage. The House approved it yesterday and the Senate gave it first reading last night, then shot it back to committee for further study.

Chairman E. Leroy Chapman (R-Warren) said the appropriations committee "plans some changes" in the amounts but was unprepared to specify them.

Both branches wound up the week with today's sessions, the house starting at 10 a. m. (EST) and the Senate at 12 a. m.

Myron Fuchs, who was a member of this year's Vanderbilt Cup championship team, won his first master points in 1938 when he was first in the Eastern Pairs. His next major championship came the following year in the Eastern when he won the Team-of-Four. The Vanderbilt Cup victory, however, is his first national championship and places him high among the list of national masters, and he now has 224 points to his credit.

Fuchs plays a strong, steady game. Here is a hand which helped him and his teammates win one of the matches in the Vanderbilt.

On the opening lead, the queen of clubs won the jack. Now the average player would probably lay down the queen of diamonds and expect to run the suit. But Fuchs was more careful.

He saw that he could afford to lose one diamond trick, provided that he did not lose the trick to West, so that his remaining club stopper could be led through. He went over to dummy with a spade to lead a low diamond, on which he played the eight. When this safety play turned out to pick up the guarded jack, Fuchs was able to lay down ten top tricks, making an overtrick in a doubled contract.

Motor vehicle ownership expanded by nearly 1,500,000 in 1940, bringing registrations of automobiles and trucks to an estimated total of 32,000,000 at the end of the year.

Mary E. Rock Bride Of Anthony Scalise In Church Ceremony

Announcement is made today that at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning in St. Joseph's church, Father Edward E. Jacobs celebrated a nuptial mass and united in marriage Mary Elizabeth Rock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Rock, 1505 Pennsylvania avenue, and Anthony J. Scalise, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Scalise, 826 West Fifth avenue.

Miss Evelyn Armstrong, organist, played a recital of wedding music and the traditional wedding marches; also accompaniments for the soloists, Frank Rich and Miss Josephine Lucia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a powder blue street ensemble, burgundy accessories and a shoulder corsage of wine orchids. She carried a white prayer book and crystal rosary. Miss Frances Ulrich, her maid of honor, wore beige with brown accessories and a gardenia corsage and carried a crystal rosary. Mrs. Rock wore a blue print, white accessories and sweet pea corsage and Mrs. Scalise wore a blue and white print and similar flowers.

Mr. Scalise was attended by his cousin, Daniel Lucia, and ushers were the bride's brothers, Dominick and Joseph Rock.

A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home for the immediate families and bridal party, with appointments carried out in garden flowers and ivory tapers. Afterward, a reception was held at the bridegroom's home.

Later in the day the couple left for an eastern motor trip and will be at home to their friends after June 1.

Silver Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Witz Occasion of Party

Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Witz, 107 Sixth avenue, entertained 125 guests at a delightful party Tuesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. activities building to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary.

Assisting the hostess in receiving and ushering guests were the bride's three nieces, Betty and Joyce Rapp, of Warren, and Mrs. Alva Seymour, of Jamestown, N. Y.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, with Mr. and Mrs. Witz heading a procession to the dining room, while the orchestra played the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin". Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Witz, parents of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Virgil Palmer, who was bridesmaid for Hazel Rapp 25 years ago.

Most attractive appointments were in silver and white, with a large wedding cake, white flowers and white candles in silver holders.

A very pleasing program included prayer and an informal address by Rev. Edward K. Rogers, pastor of the First Lutheran church; two vocal solos, "I Love You Truly" and "Ab, Sweet Mystery of Life", pleasingly given by Miss Viola Lindmark, with Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft as accompanist; three charming readings, including "Mrs. Muffet's Silver Wedding", by Miss Anna Louise Kahl. To close, all sang "That Old Gang of Mine".

After the group had returned to the parlors, the couple were presented with gifts, messages and best wishes from many happy guests. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed with dancing, McCune's Orchestra providing the pleasing music.

Out of town guests were from Harrisburg, Kane, Jamestown and Lakewood.

Myron Fuchs, who was a member of this year's Vanderbilt Cup championship team, won his first master points in 1938 when he was first in the Eastern Pairs. His next major championship came the following year in the Easterns when he won the Team-of-Four. The Vanderbilt Cup victory, however, is his first national championship and places him high among the list of national masters, and he now has 224 points to his credit.

Fuchs plays a strong, steady game. Here is a hand which helped him and his teammates win one of the matches in the Vanderbilt.

On the opening lead, the queen of clubs won the trick. Now the average player would probably lay down the queen of diamonds and expect to run the suit. But Fuchs was more careful.

He saw that he could afford to lose one diamond trick, provided that he did not lose the trick to West, so that his remaining club stopper could be held through. He went over to dummy with a spade to lead a low diamond, on which he played the eight. When this safety play turned out to pick up the guarded jack, Fuchs was able to lay down ten top tricks, making an overtrick in a doubled contract.

Athletics Continue Climb With 6 To 4 Win Over Beantown

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The real sensation of the spring in the major leagues now is being provided by the Philadelphia Athletics, who have won nine of their last 11 games.

From a haphazard crew that floundered helplessly for five weeks once losing seven straight games and another time five in a row, the A's suddenly have sprung up to challenge the first division in the American League. They squeezed into fifth place ahead of Boston yesterday by capturing a 6-4, 16-inning marathon from the Red Sox and now not only are threatening Detroit in fourth place, but are just three games out of second!

No one will dissent in giving the greatest credit to that 78-year-old genius of the scoreboard, Cornelius McGillicuddy himself.

For years frail old Connie Mack has been planning and building for days like these. With no farm system worthy of the name and virtually without assistance, Mr. Mack has sorted over literally hundreds of would-be ball players like a farmer would grade apples.

Now he has a young, vital team, full of potentialities but short on pitching. This latter difficulty has been alleviated through great relief work by Luman Harris and Tom Ferrick, who was picked out of the semi-pro ranks last winter.

Ferrick pitched the last ten innings against the Red Sox yesterday, kept eight hits spaced and allowed only one run. It was the tenth time in 12 relief calls that he has finished the game and on eight of these occasions the A's have won.

Meanwhile the Detroit Tigers have conquered the first-place (Turn to Page Eleven)

ROSE HAS POST IN TOMORROW'S 500-MILE RACE

Indianapolis, May 29.—(P)—An All-American field of 35 cars will face the starter tomorrow for the 29th running of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's 500-mile race.

Rene LeBeque and Jean Trevoux who went to a lot of trouble to bring their Talbot specials from unoccupied France, failed to get into the starting lineup. Their last chance passed yesterday.

The field was filled with qualifications for three places in the eleventh row. "Deacon" Lutz, DuBois, Pa., took the inside spot with a speed of 123.440 miles an hour. The other two positions went to Duke Nalon, Chicago, 122.237, and Al Putnam, Indianapolis, 121.95.

A head-on view of tomorrow's start will look much like that of the 1940 race. The same three cars will be in the front row, with their positions shifted somewhat. Mauri Rose, Indianapolis, beat out Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., for No. 1 spot on the rail which Mays had last year. Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, winner last year and in two other years, was pushed from second to third place, where Rose started in 1940.

Rose got the pole position with a qualifying speed of 128.692 miles an hour. Mays' time was 128.301 and Shaw's 127.836.

Last Night's Bouts

Chicago — Tony Zale, 158½, Gary, Ind., knocked out Al Hostak, 158½, Seattle, Wash., (2) to retain N. B. A. Middleweight Title.

New Haven, Conn.—Angelo Radano, 138, Norwalk, Conn., outpointed Bobby (Polson) Ivy, 131, Hartford, Conn. (8).

Feller's Arm in Cast For Posterity

That's a plaster cast on Bob Feller's mighty pitching arm, but it's nothing serious. Sculptor Joseph C. Motto, right, just put it on to make a mold for chiseled copies of the Indian pitcher's hand for posterity to see.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Offhand we'd say they need no drum beater for the Louis-Conn fight June 18, at least not for Conn. Billy seems to be doing alright in that department for himself. Not that there's anything wrong with it, though. It's strange, but the Pittsburgh Wonder, like Louis, has fought and beaten everybody they have asked him to since he made his debut and became light-heavyweight champion. But to this day fans, though they can find no fault with the fights he has given, still under rate Conn and are hesitant in backing him in his tussles. So the only competent challenger to raise his voice for a title shot since Louis has been the heavy king, climbs onto his own bandwagon for this one, and the odds are high that boxing fans, even those who are supposedly "in the know" won't listen to what he says. Billy's arguments aren't many but they certainly stand to reason. He hasn't been beaten since he fought Teddy Yarosz, one of the sharpest punching middleweight champions the game ever knew, back in the summer of 1938. Since then the Smoky City fighter has grown bigger, better, and stronger, making him now a seasoned boxer, for he's been in the game since he was sixteen, and a challenger that's both experienced and good, thus barring him from membership in the "Bum-of-the-Month" Club, at least.

This corner has confidence in Conn, has always held plenty of respect for the Pittsburgh boxer, and we're not getting off at the next station now because Billy has finally been given the chance he asked for, a scrap with Louis. It'll be a tough fight for Conn, but the Brown Bomber is going to have his hands full too. We're now classed as being "baldy" because we can honestly concede Billy a chance. Fans contend he isn't big enough. Well, in Conn's own words, "I'm good enough." And the Pittsburgher is confident he is. Hype Igoo, one of the foremost boxing experts, of present times, wrote six months ago when Conn was supposedly being groomed for an indoor match, that Billy had a good chance and probably could beat the Bomber. Well, he may win and he may not. But that is for us to wait and see.

Strikes and balls... The Dragon baseballers wound up their season with that football score in Tuesday's game. Sixteen straight victories without a defeat, not including their intra-squad battle which they stole from the reserves 14-1... They scored 220 runs to 47 for their opponents... Claim three shutouts, a no-hitter, and a one-hitter. Jamestown plans to have boxing this summer, but the promoter, is stumped in trying to decide on amateur or professional fight cards... Amateur scraps are becoming costly, and pros demand still more... But then if the price is going to be high, they might just as well take a chance with those who slay-for-pay this season. Everybody's happy, including Johnny Nelson, up Bradford way as the Bees are hitting their stride and continue to burn the track in the Pony League... Don't forget your week-end sports program has a doubleheader at Irvine Friday, Ludlow vs. State Hospital at Ludlow the same day, and the Jamestown Hope Windows at the State Hospital on Saturday... Sunday we'd suggest you either sleep, go golfing, or pack a lunch and go on a picnic. Sammy Sneed is the early favorite and the favorite of form, taken from the winter golf tour, to win the National Open... Offhand, we'd say Ben Hogan was about due to come through... Hogan won two winter tourneys and hasn't missed the money for 48 consecutive meets.

The annual Gra-Y track meet, sponsored by the Boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., under the direction of T. F. Eppley, was held yesterday at Beatty Field with South street school winning the laurels, scoring 14 points to 10 for Lacy, and 8 for Jefferson.

Ribbons will be awarded for first, second, and third places at the Gra-Y Rally at the "Y" tonight. Also at the rally, mushball emblems will be awarded. The championship mushball game is being played this afternoon at Beatty Field between the first and second half winners, South street and Lacy.

St. Marys Colts And Forge In Two Games At Irvine Tomorrow

Another crowd as big, possibly larger, than the one which watched the Forge play the Homestead Grays a week ago, is expected to be on hand tomorrow to see the Irvine crew mix with the St. Marys Colts in a twin bill, the first game starting at 2:00 p. m., on Wilder Field, Irvine.

Business Manager Jimmy Kanen of the National Forge announced that Freddy Gagliardi would probably start the first game if his arm was alright. Gagliardi has had arm trouble all spring, and it is still uncertain whether or not he can pitch against the Colts. Harry Rosequist is expected to catch the first game.

In the nightcap Hank Wise probably will be the starting pitcher with either Mack or Steve Massa behind the plate. Caffrey will be used as relief pitcher for the Forge.

It was announced today by business manager Jimmy Kanen that "Diz" Hines would star in the first game for the Colts tomorrow afternoon against the St. Marys Colts at Irvine.

Gagliardi was slated to go, but may not be used until the second game, possibly not at all, due to the fact that he will be working and won't be able to get to the field much before the second fracas.

The Colts will probably use "Red" Whitford and either Bill Parson or Bill Newell as starters on the mound in the two contests. Parson will get the nod over Newell in the event that a right hander is needed, because he is the only right handed pitcher on the staff.

Arnie Meyer and Bernie Haberberger will do the catching for the Colts.

The remainder of the Irvine lineup will be practically the same as the one used against the Grays, except that the second base position is undecided. Dick Giegener may be moved in from left field or Gagliardi may be tried around the keystone sack in which event the Forge would be forced to start either Kulick or Caffrey in one of the games.

DEFEND IC4A TITLE

Pittsburgh, May 29.—(P)—Pitt's track and field squad leaves by motor today for New York, where they'll defend their team championship in the IC4A meet Friday and Saturday.

Coach Carl Olson once more counts on balance and plenty of second, third and fourth places to keep the Panthers in the running for team laurels. They won the 1940 title without a single first place.

There is one three-event man on the team: Bill Carter, an expert at the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump.

Before a medium-size bomber is flown for the first time, it must undergo approximately 200,000 different inspections.

.400 Hitter?

Ted Williams, above, is batting at .400 clip and baseball men agree Boston Red Sox outfielder has swing with which to be there or thereabouts at finish. Williams batted .344 in 1940. Majors have not had .400 hitter since Bill Terry of New York Giants edged into circle 11 years ago.

The field was filled with qualifications for three places in the eleventh row. "Deacon" Litz, DuBois, Pa., took the inside spot with a speed of 123.440 miles an hour. The other two positions went to Duke Nalon, Chicago, 122.237, and Al Putnam, Indianapolis, 121.95.

A head-on view of tomorrow's start will look much like that of the 1940 race. The same three cars will be in the front row, with their positions shifted somewhat.

Mauri Rose, Indianapolis, beat out Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., for No. 1 spot on the rail which Mays had last year. Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, winner last year and in two other years, was pushed from second to third place, where Rose started in 1940.

Rose got the pole position with a qualifying speed of 128.692 miles an hour. Mays' time was 128.301 and Shaw's 127.836.

Feller's Arm in Cast For Posterity

That's a plaster cast on Bob Feller's mighty pitching arm, but it's nothing serious. Sculptor Joseph C. Motto, right, just put it on to make a mold for chiseled copies of the Indian pitcher's hand for posterity to see.

St. Marys Colts And Forge In Two Games At Irvine Tomorrow

Another crowd as big, possibly larger, than the one which watched the Forge play the Homestead Grays a week ago, is expected to be on hand tomorrow to see the Irvine crew mix with the St. Marys Colts in a twin bill, the first game starting at 2:00 p. m., on Wilder Field, Irvine.

Business Manager Jimmy Kanen of the National Forge announced that Freddy Gagliardi would probably start the first game if his arm was alright. Gagliardi has had arm trouble all spring, and it is still uncertain whether or not he can pitch against the Colts. Harry Rosequist is expected to catch the first game.

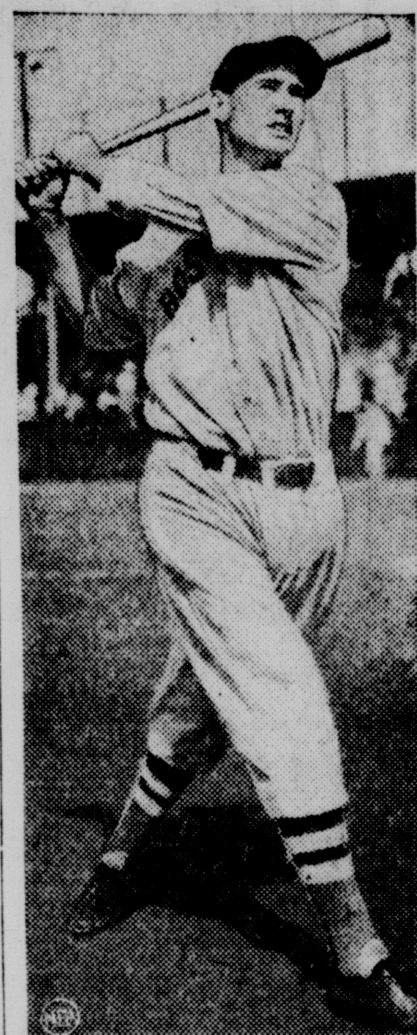

In the nightcap Hank Wise probably will be the starting pitcher with either Mack or Steve Massa behind the plate. Caffrey will be used as relief pitcher for the Forge.

CHANGE PITCHER

It was announced today by business manager Jimmy Kanen that "Diz" Hines would start the first game for the Forge tomorrow afternoon against the St. Marys Colts at Irvine.

Gagliardi was slated to go, but may not be used until the second game, possibly not at all, due to the fact that he will be working and won't be able to get to the field much before the second fracas.

.400 Hitter?

Ted Williams, above, is batting at .400 clip and baseball men agree Boston Red Sox outfielder has swing with which to be there or thereabouts at finish. Williams batted .344 in 1940. Majors have not had .400 hitter since Bill Terry of New York Giants edged into circle 11 years ago.

LOCAL PASTOR IS MODERATOR FOR SESSIONS

Rev. Martin Hamlin, pastor of Calvary Baptist church and moderator of the Swedish Baptist Middle East Conference, will be in Jamestown this weekend for the 38th annual meeting of the conference.

The sessions began this evening and continue through Sunday, June 1.

Delegates named to represent the local church are Rev. and Mrs. Martin Hamlin, Mrs. Amanda Holmberg, John Ahlgren, Arvid Danielson and Clarence O. Swanson.

One of the highlights of the convention will be an address by Dr. K. J. Karlson, dean of Bethel Seminary in St. Paul, Minn., to be given at the Friday evening service. The choir of the Warren church will present a short musical program at the same session.

PARIS SPEAKER HEARD BY LARGE AUDIENCE HERE

There was a good sized crowd last evening for the service held in Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, when the Very Rev. Frederick W. Schmelting, D. D. of the Trinity Cathedral in Paris gave a stirring address on "The War As It Affects Civilization, Democracy and Christianity."

The service was of a community nature with many civic and patriotic groups represented and the offering received was given to the local chapter of Bundles for Britain.

Dean Beckman told of the aggression of Hitler from the very beginning of the war and of the progress of conquest from the days of Christ until this earth. He expressed the firm belief that national defense measures should be in the hands of army and navy heads and scientific military men, with no influence from political groups. He stressed the necessity for every person working for the cause of peace and concluded with the thought that those who do not work to help Britain and our own national defense plans are guilty of treason.

Rev. P. P. Worth, rector presided at the services and offered prayer and Dr. T. E. Colby, read the Scripture. Music by Trinity choir included DeKoven's "Recessional" with cantata solo by S. G. Davis; offertory anthem, "Finlandia" by Sibelius with Mrs. Corinne Dean as soprano soloist, the hymn, "Our Father's God to Thee" and one verse of "God Save the King." The recessional hymn was "God of Our Fathers" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" was used for the recessional.

Massed colors of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars added a patriotic touch to the scene.

"After talking with him at length, our officers were convinced he was Schmeling."
"Later in the day he was being taken to a field hospital by our ambulance corps when more German parachutists descended on top of us and a dog fight opened."
"Schmeling grabbed a rifle from one of our soldiers 'no had been wounded and went into action like a wild bull."
"Before he did any damage, however someone let him have it, and that was the end of Max."
The ambulance driver said he did not know whether Schmeling arrived in Ciete by parachute plane or glider but German officials had said previously that he went there as a parachute trooper.

young leaders who have helped to make our party great, typical of those Democrats who never say "What do I get out of it?" but instead ask "what can I do?" We need more of them. So long as we remain faithful to our principles, I am sure they will continue to rally to our standards."
Guffey said he did not know what Achtenman's future might hold, or what his ambitions might be, "But I know the Democratic party is not going to forget the service he has rendered under great difficulties on the floor of the House at Harrisburg."
Achtenman has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the superior court.

Commissioners Pay Annual Tribute To County Benefactor

Warren county commissioners yesterday visited the cemetery at Westfield, N. Y., and decorated the grave of Henry R. Rouse, benefactor of this county, who died April 17, 1861.

After being fatally burned and while suffering excruciating pain, Mr. Rouse dictated and signed by a mark a will giving a large sum of money to Warren county, one-half of the income from which was to be used for the poor of the county and the other half for roads.

Each year, just before Memorial Day, the county commissioners place a floral tribute on his grave in memory and appreciation of what he did for the people of Warren county.

Tate expressed hope, however, that any restriction in the use of electricity would not include the "lightless nights" and darkness of white ways of World War years.

Under the "unlimited emergency" proclaimed Tuesday night, President Roosevelt has absolute sway over the nation's power facilities. He may "take over power houses, dams, conduits and reservoirs; require temporary connections of facilities and such interchange, delivery and transmission as may be required."

Harrisburg's two veterans, Ephraim Slaughter, 91, and John Bar, 95, both veterans, will be chief marshals and chief of staff respectively at tomorrow's Memorial Day parade. Marshals at the parade in Erie will be the city's two survivors, Logan J. Dyke, 91, and Leonard Noy 90.

Pending a definite decision the war department has gone ahead nevertheless perfecting detailed plans to fill the guardmen's places with selective service trainees, organized into entirely new divisions.

John Secretary Samson and General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, have forecast that the decision would be made probably next month and would be based on the general defense outlook at that time.

Officials were inclined to doubt that the president, even under an unlimited emergency, had the power to extend the guard's one-year period without congressional action.

Cleveland Indians three in a row, yesterday by an 8-5 margin. The second-place Chicago White Sox dropped their second straight to the St. Louis Browns 8-4. Harland Clift hit two home runs and Roy Cullenbine one to lead the Browns' attack.

A grand slam home run by George (Twink) Selkirk with the bases loaded in the eighth brought the New York Yankees a 6-5 verdict over the Washington Senators in the first night game ever played in the nation's capital.

The St. Louis Cardinals continued their burning pace in the National League with another ninth-inning rally to clip the Chicago Cubs 6-5 for their ninth consecutive victory.

A three-run homer by Vince DiMaggio gave the Pittsburgh Pirates the margin they needed to cage the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4. Big Max Butcher kept the Reds' hitting so well spread that the champions didn't score until the eighth.

Brooklyn's Dodgers preserved their hex over the Phillies by taking a 6-5 twelve-inning decision in a night game. Dolph Camilli and Dixie Walker snapped their tenth and seventh homers of the year to help the Dodgers to a 5-0 lead in the first five innings and a double by Pete Reiser finally knocked in the winning run.

SHEFFIELD TO HONOR DEAD ON MEMORIAL DAY

Sheffield, May 29—Sheffield to-morrow will pay tribute to the memory of her citizens, now dead, who served in the armed forces of the nation.

The Memorial Day observance, in charge of Frank M. Glendenning Post, American Legion, will include a parade to the cemetery where appropriate services, including military rites, honoring the soldier, sailor and war nurse dead will be held.

Legionnaires, school children, firemen, community bands and other civic organizations will participate in the parade, which will form on South Main street, opposite Legion Park, at 9 a. m., and get under way shortly thereafter.

It will proceed to the cemetery via South Main, Church and School streets.

The rites at the cemetery, in charge of Ruland Russ, commander of Frank M. Glendenning Post, will center around the address of the day, which will be given by Calvin Hall, executive of the Warren County Boy Scout organization.

Over 100 guests were present at a party given in St. Anthony's Hall last evening by the Junior Class of Sheffield High School honoring the Senior Class, which will be graduated next Tuesday evening.

The party began with a bounteous dinner at 6:30 o'clock. The tables were decorated in red, white and blue patriotic motif, the decorations including bouquets of spring flowers.

The guests of honor were formally welcomed to the event by Donald Lyle, president of the Junior Class, and the response to the welcome was given by Elwood Kinney, Senior Class president.

The remainder of evening's program, with Junior President Lyle acting as chairman, was presented as follows: Toasts to members of the two classes, L. O. Eisenhauer, high school principal; vocal solo, R. W. Gettings; euphonium solo, Elwood Kinney; piano solo, C. S. Greenwood; harmonica and guitar duet, Mike Steffan and Eugene Champion; vocal duet, Natalie Owen and Shirley Painter; trombone solo, Sidney Brong; violin solo, Mary Pat O'Connor; cornet duet, Anthony Richwalsky and Eugene Champion; vocal solo, Harlan Samuelson; alma mater, the assemblage.

Baccalaureate services in the high school auditorium at 7:30 Sunday night followed on Tuesday night by commencement exercises in the same place will conclude the local scholastic careers of the 50 young men and women who comprise the class of 1941.

Rev. Ivan Rossell, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. The commencement address will be given by Dr. Ruskin Howe, president of Otterbein College.

THE AMERICAN SOLDIER....A DEFENDER OF TRUE DEMOCRACY

Many are the years that have passed since the first American soldiers emerged victorious from the battle which determined a people's right to a democratic life. Many are the battlefields to which soldiers wearing the uniform of the army of the United States of America have carried the spirit of democracy.

Today we observe another Memorial Day. Wreaths will be placed—battlefields visited—speeches made—all over the land, in tribute to the men who lived, fought and died that freedom might continue to ring out, here. Yet the best tribute any American can pay those men's memory is to pledge himself to living democratically, whatever part he plays in civil life, or as an active participant in our nation's defense.

Let us honor the men of to-day who are rallying to the defense of our nation. We salute the soldiery of America!

THE AMERICAN SOLDIER.... A DEFENDER OF TRUE DEMOCRACY

Many are the years that have passed since the first American soldiers emerged victorious from the battle which determined a people's right to a democratic life. Many are the battlefields to which soldiers wearing the uniform of the army of the United States of America have carried the spirit of democracy.

Today we observe another Memorial Day. Wreaths will be placed—battlefields visited—speeches made—all over the land, in tribute to the men who lived, fought and died that freedom might continue to ring out, here. Yet the best tribute any American can pay those men's memory is to pledge himself to living democratically, whatever part he plays in civil life, or as an active participant in our nation's defense.

Let us honor the men of to-day who are rallying to the defense of our nation. We salute the soldiery of America!
